-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL.                      2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

Art Unit: 3653

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1 through 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 through 4 are indefinite because the preamble of the claims recites a method while the body of the claims recites only structure of an apparatus and the function of the various elements of the apparatus. The claims fail to clearly recite any steps in of the method. Accordingly, the method being claimed is not clearly understood.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1 through 4 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shimizu.

Note the ribs 3 of the feedhead against which the sheet is drawn to corrugate the sheet during separation. The amount of corrugation will depend on the strength of the individual sheets to resist bending.

5. Claims 1 through 4 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Taylor et al '188 (cited by applicant).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Note the ribs 200, 202, 204 and 206 against which the sheet is drawn to corrugate the sheet during separation. The amount of corrugation will depend on the strength of the individual sheets to resist bending.

6. Claims 1 through 4 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yang et al '208 (cited by applicant).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Note the ribs 200, 202, 204 and 206 against which the sheet is drawn to corrugate the sheet during separation. The amount of corrugation will depend on the strength of the individual sheets to resist bending.

7. Claims 1 through 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Taylor '255 (cited by applicant).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Note the ribs 200, 202, 204 and 206 against which the sheet is drawn to corrugate the sheet during separation. The amount of corrugation will depend on the strength of the individual sheets to resist bending.

8. Claims 1 through 4 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Taylor et al '207 (cited by applicant).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Note the ribs 200, 202, 204 and 206 against which the sheet is drawn to corrugate the sheet during separation. The amount of corrugation will depend on the strength of the individual sheets to resist bending.
